KNOX IN STATEMENT LAUDS JAPAN RECEPTION

FISHER FOR POLICY OF PUBLICITY

Secretary Says Gets Impression Here Administration
Did Not Confide

Secretary Fisher put it squarely up to Governor Frear this morning whether or not the administration has taken the people of Hawaii sufficiently into its confidence.

He did not press the governor for a yes or no answer, but at three distinct times during the morning's hearing the secretary commented emphatically and significantly upon the apparent fact that homesteading has been carried on in Hawaii without enough advance publicity of the government's intention.

The comments from Mr. Fisher were made from time to time during the course of the statement that Governor Frear gave, a continuance of the executive's statement of yesterday. Today the statement turned more directly upon the specific complaints by the delegate of failure or partial failure of the administration to encourage homesteading in certain named groups of lands. It was in connection with the advertising and opening of these homesteads that the secretary asked the governor if he considered enough publicity has been given to the plans of the land commissioner or other authorities.

"I have found a good deal of criticism of the government's policy in this regard," said Mr. Fisher. "There seems to be some dissatisfaction, largely because the people couldn't get the information they wanted on public lands. Do you think they could get it?"

The governor replied that he thought as a rule the officials have been careful to reply to all applicants, though perhaps three or four might have been overlooked, and the secretary said his impression is that he has heard of considerably more than three or four during his present investigation. "I'm left with the impression on my mind that there were more than three or four," he stated.

Later, on the same subject, he asked Frear: "Isn't it true that you issue an order, known of course to the officers, but not to the public except as they happen to learn it?" He asked Frear what public notice was given, and Frear said that besides the news given in the public press, advertisements were inserted in the papers. Mr. Fisher objected that these advertisements were after the survey of the lots and when the government was almost ready to open them to entry. "That's pretty far down in the game, isn't it?" he asked pointedly. "Isn't there some public center where the notices can be put up earlier?"

Fisher Tells Impression.
Becoming still more emphatic, he said: "I get the impression that there's a little feeling on the part of the public that they aren't taken into the confidence of the administration, that they think they are always a little behind in the game, and that there is somebody else who gets advance information or somebody who gets there first. They feel that they haven't a fair show."

Governor Frear admitted that there is a feeling of that kind, but defended his subordinates from any serious negligence in dealing with homesteaders.

During the morning the secretary went into the issuance of water license to a considerable degree, evidently trying to find out whether or not it is public policy to have the executive handle the licenses while the land board handles land matters in its jurisdiction.

Small Audience Today.
Only a small audience, of not more than a score was present when the hearing began this morning.

Governor Frear was immediately recalled to the "witness chair," and Attorney Olson, before the Governor resumed his talk, handed the Secretary a copy of the contract which gave the Hilo Railroad Company its lands in that city for terminal purposes.

After reading the reservation shown therein the Secretary remarked: "That is a very good reservation; much better than the previous one we have seen."

Attorney Olson then announced he

DUKE, WORLD-CHAMPION, WELCOMED HOME

Laden with honors, he's glad to get back to Hawaii nei;
Would take swimming team to 'Frisco for 1915 Fair

Cheering Crowd To Greet Honolulan After Triumphs

With an upsurge of mighty whistles throughout the length of the harbor, the playing of the Hawaiian band, the songs of his Hui Nalu comrades and great shouting of thousands of his friends who thronged the waterfront at the Matson pier, Duke Kahanamoku, Hawaii world champion swimmer, was given a royal welcome early this morning as the steamer Wilhelmina moved slowly up the bay to her berth, and the swimmer of them all returned again to his native land.

With the irrepressible glee of a youngster, the world's champion jiggered rapt on the upper deck, laughingly waded his hat to the crowds and saluted delighted greetings to his "de" of the Hui Nalu, the boys with whom he once trained and talked and dreamed of the glory that was to come to him.

Father Gets News

The quarantine was first to the ship, but a moment later the customs launch, carrying Duke Kahanamoku Sr., the pier, and the reception committee, waded in near the vessel; that was quickly joined by the launch Hukihuki, carrying the Hui Nalu club, and the launch Kulamau. All his near the ship as possible, while champion, dressed in blue and wearing around his right arm the yellow and black badge of Hui Nalu, shout greetings to them all, while the band of the club sang Hawaiian melodies and popular songs.

As soon as the doctors had completed their work the members of the party aboard the customs tug were permitted to climb up the Jacob's ladder, and they immediately joined Duke on the deck. The Hukihuki, carrying her load of rolicking choristers, steamed the harbor alongside the big ship until abreast of the Matson pier, where the tug hurried up to the opposite side and the crowd jumped out and held the throng of probably 2000 persons massed there.

Serenade of Whistles

As the Wilhelmina reached a point opposite the Hemi boatshouse the water craft began the serenade of mighty sound, which was soon taken up by every craft along the waterfront and turned into a bedlam of noise. This continued fully twenty minutes, until the Wilhelmina docked.

When the gang was finally in place, Duke, accompanied by W. T. Rawlins, chairman of the reception committee, was first to rush down. As he approached the top of the last flight and waving his hat and laughing, shout that went up threatened the fety of the roof overhead. Then he was seized by the Hui Nalu, throwing up on their shoulders and carried down the pier at a run, out into the street and handed into the automobile which one of his friends had read at his service for the ride to home at Waikiki.

At the machine his parents joined him. And almost that, but by no means the least, of the to meet and clasp his hand was his mother, tearful and voiceless with emotion. As she was lifted into the taeu she merely stretched out her hand to her boy,

DUKE KAHANAMOKU, JR.

$2,000 NOW IN FUND FOR GIFT TO DUKE; MORE COMING

Duke Kahanamoku wants to take a trip to Hawaii and Maui to give free exhibitions of swimming for the people of those islands. Expressing his appreciation of their generosity in contributing to the Duke Kahanamoku fund, he said this afternoon that he would like to give them something in return, and could think of nothing that would please them more than to see him in action in the water.

W. T. Rawlins, chairman of the committee having the fund in charge, says he is confident the tour can be arranged. The details will be completed within a few days.

The fund, by the way, has reached an aggregate of about $2,000. Rawlins says he hopes to be able to increase this by $500 more, to purchase a home at Waikiki beach for the young champion.

Duke announces his intention to remain in the Islands, and wants to lead a team of Hawaiian swimmers and divers to the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco in 1915.

and he gathered her close and kissed her.

If there were any native Hawaiians who were not present, it is not known. Even the school children were present in crowds.

Foretaste of the Future.

The singing of his boyhood friends as the big ship lay in quarantine outside the harbor gave Duke a foretaste of what is to follow. As he exchanged greetings with them one yelled: "Luau tonight, Duke!" and he replied in suggestive pantomime, dipping two

SEC. KNOX IS PLEASED WITH JAPAN'S SPIRIT

SECRETARY KNOX'S STATE-

"As publicly announced before I left Washington and repeated on my arrival in Japan, the purpose of my recent mission was, on behalf of the President and the people of the United States, to pay a tribute of respect to the memory of the late Emperor; to manifest the appreciation of the American people of the wonderful achievements under His Majesty's benign reign, and to express the sympathetic American interest in the new Japan.

"In fulfilling that high mission I was received on all sides by the court, the officials and the people of Japan in the spirit in which I came. I have the pleasant recollections of the kindly reception that was everywhere accorded me in Japan, both personally and as representative of the American people, at a time of profound national mourning."

The foregoing is the prepared statement that Secretary Knox gave a Star-Bulletin reporter, through Ransford S. Miller, chief of the division of Far Eastern affairs, department of state, on the arrival of the U. S. S. Maryland from Yokohama this afternoon.

As the Maryland was docking at 1:45 Secretary Knox, Mrs. Knox, Admiral Reynolds and Mr. Miller were on the quarterdeck.

E. A. Mott-Smith, secretary of Hawaii, went on board to welcome the distinguished visitors as soon as the gangway was hoisted at 1:55. The entire party looked to be in most robust health. Admiral Reynolds was in civilian dress.

The Maryland wore a fresh coat of fighting gray and appeared in apple pie order, while the sailors seemed in a rollicking mood that betokened anything but a hard voyage. One of them, before the gangway was up, sprang lightly to the wharf from a height of about six feet over a water space a yard wide. "Only ten days," another Jackie was heard to remark.

OVER $1,000,000 PIONEER
MILL BONDS REDEEMED

At the Bank of Hawaii today, the Pioneer Mill Company redeemed $1,031,000 of its original issue of one and a quarter million six per cent bonds. At the same time the bank mentioned took a new issue of $500,000 3-10-year 5 per cent bonds of the Pioneer Mill Co. at par. "A few of the new bonds have been sold," said A. Lewis Jr., manager of the Bank of Hawaii, this afternoon, "but none are for sale now."

Last night at the home of David Kahaleaahu, an enthusiastic meeting of the anti-Jarretts was held under the auspices of the leaders, who think they can defeat "Bill" at the coming election.

During the meeting the name of Captain Robert W. Parker, who is a candidate on the Republican ticket, was unanimously endorsed for sheriff. It is believed that Parker will have strong support for the position. Parker, when asked about the meeting this morning refused to discuss

WITNESSES TELL WHO FINANCED CANDIDATES

Millionaire Crane Gave Money
For Both Wilson and La Follette Before He Became a Progressive.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 1.—E. H. Hooker, treasurer of the Progressive party, testifying before the Senate committee on campaign funds today, said that C. R. Crane, the Chicago multi-millionaire manufacturer, who is now a Progressive, had contributed $70,000 to the anti-campaign funds of both Wilson and La Follette. William H. Finck, one of the managers of Roosevelt's campaign, and known as the "Boss of Pittsburgh," testified that he had contributed $102,000, nine-tenths of the cost of Roosevelt's campaign in Pennsylvania.

Treasurer Hooker filed an itemized report showing the pre-convention cost of the Roosevelt campaign in various States. He said $52,000 was spent in Massachusetts, $52,608 in New York, $13,500 in Illinois, and that the total expense exclusive of Pennsylvania was $141,857. Among the contributors he named were George W. Perkins, $22,500; Dr. Hanna, $25,000. Senator Pomeroy of Ohio estimated that New York cost Roosevelt two dollars a vote.

Strikers Back To Work

LAWRENCE, Mass., Oct. 1.—The 7000 textile workers who went on strike last week as a protest against the imprisonment of Ettor and Giovannitti have returned to work.

U. S. Begins Dynamite Trials

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 1.—Artie McManis, the dynamite whose confession sent the McNamara brothers to the penitentiary for the dynamiting of the Times building in Los Angeles, today pleaded guilty to being one of a group of conspirators against the National Erectors' Association. McManis was the first man called in a trial which involves some two score men, a number of them prominent labor leaders, all of whom are charged with conspiracy, which involved the use of dynamite.

The court has refused the two score and more men involved in the dynamite conspiracy case a separate trial.

INTEREST OF U. S. IN DYNAMITERS

The United States District Attorney and a corps of assistants are at work on the dynamiting cases which were called for trial today, at which time fifty-one defendants, representing almost the entire list of officials of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers for ten years back, will appear in the prisoner's box in the Federal Court.

The District Attorney has marshaled his testimony, consisting largely of documentary evidence, in such a way as to expedite the trial as much as possible. The records and letters taken from the offices of the iron workers have been arranged in the order of their dates and in the order in which the writers stand toward the conspiracy that the government charges existed in the organization to dynamite property, and at the front of these stand letters showing what part Frank M. Ryan, the international president, took in the furtherance of the alleged conspiracy.

To Involve Officials.
John J. McNamara, the international secretary, handled all the correspondence and gave practically all the instructions regarding places where explosives should be used, but there is abundant evidence that the instructions were acted upon, and what is believed to be the coming effort on the part of the defendants to make McNamara a scapegoat will be met by evidence showing that he was acting under the orders of the board, that the board appropriated the money with which to buy explosives and pay dynamiters, and that the men indicted were cognizant of all that was going on, and in a great majority of cases actually planted the dynamite.

Letters from Ryan to other members and from them to Ryan constitute an interesting part of the correspondence. In one of Ryan's letters written to John J. McNamara from

BRUCE BROWN, AUTO-RACER, IS KILLED

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 1.—Bruce Brown, the famous automobile racer, was killed here today while racing.

Flynn estimates that the Taffers spent $98,000 in Allegheny county, in which Pittsburg is situated. He denied that he had ever offered Boise Penrose a million dollars for the senatorship. He admitted that in the Roosevelt fight in Pennsylvania his expenses for personal politics swelled the total expended to $144,308.

MONTENEGRO PREPARES TO WAR AGAINST TURKEY

CETTINJE, Montenegro, Oct. 1.—The general mobilization of the Montenegrin army has been ordered following the same action taken by Bulgaria and it appears that the long expected war in the Balkans is close at hand. In this case the Balkan States will be arrayed against the Turks, although Russia apparently expects to be involved, as dispatches from St. Petersburg say that the Red Cross is being mobilized there.

JORDAN TO QUIT STANFORD AND WORK FOR PEACE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 1.—David Starr Jordan announces that he will resign from the presidency of Stanford University in 1915 to devote the remainder of his life in working for international peace.

GREAT POWERS STRIVE TO KEEP PEACE

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The triple alliance and Great Britain, France and Russia are said to be doing their utmost to preserve peace in the Balkans.

the matter. He said he was simply doing his best with a view to making a successful campaign.

George K. Kane, president of the Hui Uniona, called in the Republican Headquarters this morning and announced that he would begin his campaign next week. It is believed that he would make a tour of this island with Joel C. Cohen, who is supporting for senator, and others, whose names he did not care to mention at the present time.

Kane, when asked whether he would support Prince Kuhio for Delegate to Congress was indignant and said he has always been and is still working for the election of Link McCandless, Democratic candidate for Delegate to Congress.
